“A Letter to my Mother”

You have went on to your eternal home reality hits that you’re really gone.

The tears I’ve cried were tears of joy knowing that my mother isn’t suffering anymore.

My heart left me in a blink of an eye
God needed you more, and I never questioned why
You kept us safe from this cruel world

Moma you were truly loved by your baby girl
God called you home to your final resting place

I just wish one more I can kiss your face

Dear Mother this letter I’ve written to you

Something that is hard for me to do
You will always hold a special place in my heart

Being we are world’s apart.
